Nevada Health Response releases additional guidance on who may administer the COVID-19 vaccine

Carson City, NV — Today, Nevada Health Response issued additional guidance to clarify Directive 011 regarding who is qualified to be a vaccinator in order to maximize the workforce of those able to administer the COVID-19 vaccine.

At the direction of Governor Steve Sisolak, the COVID-19 Medical Advisory Team (MAT) convened to provide recommendations on professions able to vaccinate as part of the COVID-19 response in Nevada.

The MAT recommended additional provider types with the appropriate knowledge and training be authorized to vaccinate. Dentists, dental hygienists, podiatrists, veterinarians and others are authorized to vaccinate as more doses become available in the state.

Currently, COVID-19 vaccine allocation to Nevada from the federal government is limited, but as more doses are received additional approved vaccinators will be needed to ensure all Nevadans are able to be vaccinated in their communities.

If you are provider of medical services and you would like to help administer the vaccine, please apply at www.servnv.org and register as part of the Battle Born Medical Corps organization.
